All Saints Day
Matthew 5:1–12a — The Beatitudes

Dear brothers and sisters,

Back in the Philippines, All Saints Day is traditionally observed by visiting our beloved departed in the cemetery. Here in the United States, visiting the graves of loved ones is more commonly associated with Memorial Day.

For me, there is a beautiful connection between these traditions. We remember our beloved departed not only because we miss them, but also because we continue to pray for them. We pray with the hope that one day they will share in the company of all the saints in heaven.

This is why remembering our departed should go beyond memories. We must also remember them in our prayers. As Catholics, we believe in the power of prayer and in God's mercy to purify those who have died and bring them into the fullness of eternal life.

When we celebrate All Saints Day, we honor not only the saints officially recognized by the Church, but also the countless unnamed saints who have lived holy lives—perhaps even members of our own families. They may never have been officially declared saints, but their faith, love, sacrifices, and good examples continue to inspire us.

As members of the Church on earth, we are still on our journey toward heaven. We look forward to the day when we will join the saints and share in the glory of God's Kingdom.

The Beatitudes in today's Gospel remind us of the kind of life Jesus calls us to live: a life of humility, mercy, purity of heart, peace, and faithfulness to God.

May we never forget our beloved departed, and may we continue to pray for them. Above all, while we are still here on earth, let us strive to live holy lives so that one day we, too, may be counted among the saints.

In Christ,
Fr. Robin

Día de Todos los Santos
Mateo 5, 1-12a — Las Bienaventuranzas

Queridos hermanos y hermanas:

En Filipinas, el Día de Todos los Santos se celebra tradicionalmente visitando a nuestros seres queridos que han fallecido en el cementerio. Aquí en los Estados Unidos, es más común visitar las tumbas de nuestros seres queridos durante el Día de los Caídos (Memorial Day).

Para mí, hay una hermosa conexión entre estas dos tradiciones. Recordamos a nuestros seres queridos que han fallecido no solamente porque los extrañamos, sino también porque seguimos orando por ellos. Oramos con la esperanza de que algún día puedan estar junto a todos los santos en el cielo.

Por eso, recordar a nuestros difuntos no debe ser solamente tenerlos en nuestra memoria. También debemos recordarlos en nuestras oraciones. Como católicos, creemos en el poder de la oración y en la misericordia de Dios, que puede purificar a quienes han fallecido y llevarlos a la vida eterna.

Cuando celebramos el Día de Todos los Santos, honramos no solamente a los santos reconocidos oficialmente por la Iglesia, sino también a tantos santos que no conocemos por nombre y que vivieron una vida santa. Entre ellos pueden estar incluso miembros de nuestras propias familias. Tal vez nunca fueron declarados santos oficialmente, pero su fe, su amor, sus sacrificios y su buen ejemplo siguen inspirándonos.

Como miembros de la Iglesia que todavía estamos en la tierra, seguimos caminando hacia el cielo. Esperamos el día en que podamos reunirnos con los santos y compartir la gloria del Reino de Dios.

Las Bienaventuranzas del Evangelio de hoy nos recuerdan la clase de vida que Jesús nos invita a vivir: una vida de humildad, misericordia, pureza de corazón, paz y fidelidad a Dios.

No olvidemos a nuestros seres queridos que han fallecido y sigamos orando por ellos. Sobre todo, mientras todavía estamos en esta tierra, esforcémonos por vivir una vida santa para que algún día también podamos ser contados entre los santos.

En Cristo,
P. Robin
